Community's journey is one of shared experiences and universal. For the artist, it is a medium to express their inner thoughts, struggles, and aspirations. Art serves as a bridge, inviting us to step into another's perspective and view the world through a different lens. This dual perspective can help us understand ourselves and others better, fostering the kind of empathy and innovation that drives our communities forward.

My passion for painting stems from a desire to capture the beauty of life and the world around us. From the grandeur of the Renaissance to the delicate brushwork of the Impressionists, I have been inspired by the impact of art on society. Art has the power to bring people together, to inspire and uplift, and to challenge us to think differently. It can provide solace, comfort, stress, and discovery, helping us to find our own unique path to health and fulfillment. The profound connection between creativity and art is what motivates me to continue creating.

The celebration of beauty and aesthetics remains a central element of my artistic practice. While beauty is subjective, it is a universal language that connects us all. As an artist, I strive to create compositions that are visually appealing and harmonious. My goal is to evoke emotions and tell stories through my work, sharing them with a wider audience and inspiring them to appreciate the beauty in their own lives.

Creativity has driven artists to explore the natural world and abstract concepts, resulting in works that inspire and move us. The importance of creativity in our lives cannot be overstated. It is a fundamental part of who we are and what we do. By embracing creativity, we can live more fulfilling lives and contribute to a more vibrant and diverse world.

Jab we met.

Being a 'Two States' couple (me being a Tamilian, Suresh being a Punju), it's been a journey of lifelong discovery! There is always something surprising about the other which causes us to crack up each day, even today:).

Kailash-Mansarovar

Suresh and I have been keen trekkers, especially in the past ten years. Our son Arjun has studiously avoided joining in and this was a lone exception where we tricked him into a 'religious trek' by telling him that this was just a challenging high risk trek (Chinese region etc) and when he saw all religious tourists around, it was too late to turn back:)

Arjun @ Princeton University

Suresh and I were overwhelmed to see how well our 'little boy' had performed at a university that we had only dreamt of. Arjun continues to make us proud with his work at Bank of America a an equity derivatives researcher, with Bloomberg often quoting him:).

Goofing around in a trek

The fun part of a trek is the light moment when we stop to rest. This one is from the Everest Base Camp trek when we stopped for an energy bar break.

My first photo at Rani Sarai: a group of young boys from smaller towns, new to college life, wide-eyed and inspired by dreams of what lay ahead. Those were simple times, filled with laughter, lasting friendships, and memories that have stayed with me ever since.

Last photo at New Hostel I990: My college days were a special chapter in my life, full of learning, laughter, and lasting friendships. The last photo taken at the New Hostel in I990 holds a lot of emotion – it captured the spirit of those final moments together before we all went our separate ways.

On the way to Nainital: One of my most cherished memories is our trip to Nainital after graduation. A heartfelt reminder that even though college is behind us, our friendship still lives on

Rani Sarai roommates in 2024: Reuniting with my Rani Sarai roommates in 2024 was truly special. After all these years, it felt like no time had passed – the same laughter, the same bond, and countless memories rekindled
